

WEATHER ALERT

Snow to a Mix on Saturday... After a dry but windy and cold day today, snow is still expected to arrive tomorrow. There aren't too many changes in this update as the storm's themes continue to hold. Some thought was given to bump up totals to 2.0 - 4.0"...but we'll hold off on that for right now, largely because we continue to monitor the potential for a bit of a lull during the late afternoon hours. Either way, precipitation winds down quickly Saturday evening. One other note about this storm...unlike recent events, we will have very cold conditions leading in, which will allow for quick accumulations on any untreated ground surfaces, even though snow arrives during the afternoon hours.
